

CV Nina Macho

Nina Macho is a European Registered Toxicologist (ERT). She graduated in nutritional sciences at the University of Vienna, and in toxicology at the Medical University of Vienna. After investigating dietary factors which protect against DNA damage at the Cancer Research Institute of Vienna, she worked in the field of ecotoxicology at the Austrian Institute of Technology. In 2013 she joined the Department of Pharmacology and Toxicology at Octapharma. In her current position as Senior Scientist, Nina is responsible for toxicological risk assessment of impurities in biopharmaceutical products.