

CV Lisa Zimmermann

Lisa Zimmermann studied biological sciences at the University of Konstanz, Germany, and in her PhD at the University of Frankfurt she focused on the chemical composition and toxicity of plastic products. In 2021, she joined the Food Packaging Forum (FPF) Foundation located in Zürich, Switzerland where, through scientific research and science communication, Lisa Zimmermann supports the organization's goal to enable stakeholders to make better decisions contributing to the protection of human and environmental health.